VOLUNTEERS FOR PRODUCTION

Uphold of all the agitation for more federal authority over production manpower needed to relieve labor shortages in critical lines apparently is going to be a sword of Damocles over the heads of 4-F's not now employed in jobs classified as essential. Men in this category are going to be forced by the already existing authority of the selective service act to move into essential lines of production and service.

They are to become, in a sense, volunteers for production—volunteers, or else. Since their total is estimated at something more than a million, the effect will be considerable, if it occurs. Meanwhile, another possibility in the field of volunteer action is being ignored, or at least neglected. That is the possibility of more effective use of the production manpower already employed in the most essential lines of production and service.

The realization of this possibility would entail suspension of many restrictions on the use of labor. It would entail, besides the lifting of restrictions, a widespread volunteer effort on the part of individuals. It would mean a drastic reduction in absenteeism and turnover. It would mean a general intensification of effort all along the line to offset the loss of workers to the armed forces. It would mean more volunteer enlistment of women in the forces of labor and all other potential, but not yet available, labor—the playboys, the super-numeraries on public payrolls and all others who at present are busily employed at present doing nothing.

When that had been done and if there still were a labor shortage, it would be real and actual. Until it has been done, however, the so-called labor shortage is only apparent.

NAMES MAKE NEWS

Adoption of National Geographic society's style for foreign place names by the three major United States news services will be an ultimate blessing to this news-hungry nation, but there will be some temporary inconvenience during the transition, not only to the news services and telegraph editors, but to news readers.

The society, itself, finds it necessary to indicate alternate names on its famed maps, for example. Thus, on the map of Europe, the capital of Romania (approved style for Rumania) is identified as Bucuresti, with the better known spelling, Bucharest, in parentheses. Wien is identified also as Vienna. The island of Sardegna also appears under its better known name of Sardinia. Warszawa is bracketed with Warsaw, and so on.

Standardization of place names by the news services on the society's usage is, of course, a tribute to the important role it plays in the dissemination of geographic knowledge. The transition will necessarily be slow and may even be awkward, but if pursued conscientiously over a period of several years it will give news followers a common ground of comprehension they never had before.

POST-DURATION PROSPECTS

Food rationing and victory gardening, advises Walter F. Straub, food rationing director for OPA, will have to be continued when the European war is over. The people of Europe will have to be supplied until they can plant and harvest enough crops to feed themselves. Our troops in the Pacific, meanwhile, will have to be supplied, too.

In 1942, first year of agitation for victory gardening, many potential gardeners passed up the possibility; it would be a fad. In 1943, when it looked like a necessity, many took it up as a one-year proposition. In 1944, they know it is still a necessity, and it doesn't look as though the situation would be much different in 1945. If victory gardening continues until 1950, which it might do in view of the prospect of a long war with Japan and the difficulties of European rehabilitation, Americans will be further back toward the soil than even Henry Ford dared dream of coaxing them in a generation.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, April 12.

A DAY OF dramatic and thrilling events is forecast from the exciting transits of major planets. Reactions may be felt in business, professions, social, domestic and romantic affiliations, probably arising with sudden and surprising power, digging deep into the basic foundations of life and building up resources and creative activities of far reaching effect, and on sturdy, secure and meritorious rewards. However, there may be dangers from precipitate moves or changes, or over-active emotions or impulses. Work for sound and enduring returns. There may be separations, if based on irregular foundations, also much romantic or social enjoyment and pleasure. A time to look to future stability.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of exciting and thrilling adventures, with much of a spectacular and dramatic nature, accompanied by sound efforts to build a future of enduring and secure recognition and rewards. Despite upheaval and commotion there should be a marshalling of the energies, talents and accumulated resources for the purposes of permanent and far reaching results. There may be a spading up of undesirable contacts or associations but there may be compensatory joys and satisfactions, with a crystallization of those things worth preserving for future well being and safety.

A child born on this day may be blessed with many talents and graces, sound as well as subtle, with probable public recognition for sterling character or dramatic adventures.

"BACK-ROOM DIPLOMACY"

SPOKANE, Wash., April 11.—Ohio's Gov. John W. Bricker moved on to Tacoma today to sound a keynote for Pierce county Republicans, after a one-day stay here during which he lashed out at Secretary of State Hull and declared the New Deal was "alien to the American system."

"Republicans and old line Democrats," said the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, "have a lot in common—neither has anything to say about what goes on in Washington."

Bricker studied the text of Hull's Sunday night broadcast on foreign policy and issued a statement declaring the public was "fed up with the New Deal's back-room diplomacy."

He said the secretary left many questions unanswered and "a feeling of uneasiness about our war aims and foreign policy is evident throughout the country." He added he did not "share Mr. Hull's apprehension over the effects of open discussion" of such matters.

"That's been the trouble so far," the governor's statement continued. "The people have been kept in the dark and a feeling of uneasiness about our war aims and foreign policy is evident throughout the country."

"We are told there have been no secret agreements or commitments, political or otherwise. What then went on at Cairo, at Casablanca, at Teheran and Quebec? . . . Why were reporters kept away from the Hot Springs international food conference by armed guards?"

"What about the disposition of our military installations, airfields and radio stations after the war? Are we going to keep them for our defense or give them away? These and other questions remain unanswered."

In another talk Bricker declared himself against an international police force. He said he opposed putting any part of the military forces of the United States under any world authority. A police force, to be effective, he declared, would have to be stronger than the military strength of Russia or Britain or the United States.

What Americans must be aware of is the peace propaganda of the junkies and the German industrialists and bankers. If Americans make the mistake of sympathizing with this group and with the "poor German people" as they did after 1918, their sons will have to fight a third world war.—Emil Ludwig, author.

I hope every American who possibly can will grow a Victory garden this year. We found out last year that even the small gardens helped . . . made the difference between scarcity and abundance.—President Roosevelt.

This nation at the end of 1944 will have naval power and accompanying air power to go with it to match the naval forces of the rest of the world.—Navy Undersecretary James B. Forrestal.

The debt of disability should be paid in the currency of opportunity.—Lt. Col. Howard A. Rusk, air forces convalescent training chief.

U. S. Ace, Who Reveals How He Does It, Says Germany Using Many Novice Pilots

(By Associated Press) A U. S. FIGHTER BASE, England, April 11.—Capt. Don S. Gentile, the leading United States air force ace in the European war theater, makes the job of mowing down Nazi planes sound as easy as picking birds off a fence.

Asserting in an interview today that he believed the Germans—apparently short of experienced fighter pilots—are sending up novices with one veteran to lead them through combat, the 25-year-old Piqua, O., airman added:

"The Germans always seem to fly in twos or fours, strung out in a line, and they keep right behind the leader no matter what happens—as if they are afraid to branch off."

The dark, handsome Mustang pilot who has destroyed 20 planes in the air, with claims of three more pending, in addition to seven destroyed on the ground, willingly acknowledges his debt to his wing man, Lieut. Johnny Godfrey, 21, of Woonsocket, R. I., who has 16 kills himself.

Godfrey flies behind him, either to the right or left. Gentile keeps tabs on him by asking every few seconds over the radio phone: "Are you still with me Johnny? Are you still with me Johnny?" Any German flier who understands English can hear them calmly plotting his doom.

Enemy In The Middle "You break to the starboard," Gentile will call out, "and I'll hesitate and if he follows you around I'll follow him we'll have him right between us."

They like to tackle the tail end man in a German fighter formation first—it is hard for him to play the German game of follow-the-leader and see what is coming up behind at the same time.

"If we get him, we tackle the next one and just keep moving up the line," Gentile said. "Sometimes you can pick off all of them right up to the leader before he knows about it."

The individual German pilots often are "pretty violent" at the start of a tangle, he said, but after they are under attack for a few minutes many "seem to panic."

"They'll break off all of a sudden in a dive to get away—like all they wanted to do was get home," he said, supporting his idea that some of them are quite inexperienced.

While Gentile was musing about his technique, his squadron commander, Maj. James Goodson, Toronto, Ont., a fellow graduate of the RAF, asserted: "Don doesn't know how he does it. He was just born with the knack—and does it."

Desperate Measure

AIR BORNE German troops are arriving at Varna, Bulgarian Black Sea port, in a desperate Nazi effort to give any possible last minute assistance to the vast force (some 15 divisions or about 100,000 men, according to reports) trapped in Odessa, while "suicide squads" are being sent in to "halt at all costs" the collapse of this most vital sea port which is being pounded from three sides, shown by arrows, by Red forces who are within a few miles of the city. The Varna reinforcements were expected to move by ship not only to aid in the battle but to help effect the rescue of trapped comrades. (International)

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Hypnotism Actually a Practical Science

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D. THE AVERAGE citizen probably thinks of hypnotism as more or less in the same class as palmistry, phrenology, spiritualism, table tipping and crystal gazing. As a matter of fact this is unfair. Hypnotism is a perfectly real, proved scientific possibility. Anyone can hypnotize and anybody can be hypnotized. Essentially the hypnotic state can be caused by the rhythmic stimulation of a single sense.

Put a rooster on the floor with his eye glued to a straight chalk line and pretty soon he will fall over in a trance. He has had his sight rhythmically stimulated. Or put a person in a dark room, in a condition of relaxation, and ring a little bell every so often and the trance will result from the rhythmic stimulation of the sense of hearing. Rhythmic touches or striking of the face and arms will do the same thing.

In the hypnotic state the subject is very suggestible and his judgment is suspended; he will do things that he is told, although they are ridiculous. Sometimes he can do things that he cannot do voluntarily in the waking state. Some Misconceptions Several misconceptions about hypnotism are that one can be hypnotized against his will; that is not true, although when a subject has been hypnotized several times he goes into a trance very readily. Also it is not true that the hypnotist can steal the will of the hypnotized subject. That is a holdover from the old novel Tribby by George du Maurier.

Hypnotism has been used in medical treatment for many years. There is currently a revival of it led by a New York psychologist, Mr. Andrew Salter, who has written a book What Is Hypnosis? (published by Richard R. Smith, New York).

Mr. Salter has had a great deal of success in treating patients with nervous trouble—hallucinations, stuttering—and also alcoholism. He appears to be particularly successful with patients who are troubled with general shyness. He has success in nineteen out of twenty patients sent to him.

There is nothing surprising about this as it has been known to the medical profession for years. A Dr. Esdralle, at about the time surgical anesthesia was introduced (1845-1850), claimed that in India where he practiced he had been performing surgical operations on natives for years without the use of any drug for anesthesia—merely hypnosis. He came to England, however, and found it did not work on the less susceptible Anglo-Saxon personality.

The new part of Mr. Salter's thesis is that autohypnosis is possible and that the subject can make suggestions which he carries out in the hypnotic trance "exactly," says Mr. Salter, "as I would give them and with the same effect if not better." Through inducing hypnosis upon oneself by autohypnosis and self-suggestion it may be possible for soldiers to be freed of fear and to feel no pain when wounded. Mr. Salter has trained "three physically and mentally healthy adults to remain completely insensible to pain and the sound of gun fire in the waking state." They can turn this state on and off by themselves. Mr. Salter is trying to persuade military authorities to allow autohypnosis in the armed forces. If, he believes, render 20 to 25 per cent fear-free in battle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reader:—(1) How can a fat man reduce weight? (2) How can a bald man grow hair?

Answer: (1) By eating one-fourth as much as he does. (2) He can't.

H. H. S.:—Have read a book by a Russian on "Middle age is what you make it" who says that middle-age folk do not need alkalizing. They need all the alkali they can get. Others say take bicarbonate; it won't hurt you. Who shall decide when such authorities disagree?

Answer: Who called them authorities? The Russian sounds like a fake. Soda bicarbonate won't hurt you at any age. But that it changes your chemistry is something else. The human body is neutral in reaction from birth to death, and preserves its neutrality fiercely. When you really get acid or alkaline you are in real trouble.

THE RED CARNATION by BURTON STEVENSON

CHAPTER THIRTY

Bradford went on telling of his wife's psychic problems: "I understand now, but I'd have been mad then if I had thought that my wife was going to talk about such things with some other man. I can see now what a blessing it was she went. Otherwise she would probably have gone along all the rest of her life with that cloud over her."

Tony nodded solemnly. "Now I want to ask you some questions. What was McKibben doing with that record?"

"He was trying to blackmail my wife with it, of course. Called her up about a week ago and said he wanted to congratulate her on how handsome her boy was getting to be—more like his father every day—and he would like to talk to her about him. Josephine naturally was scared to death. She agreed to go down to his office. He showed her a cylinder and played it for her, and it was for sale for twenty-five thousand dollars. If she didn't take it, he intended to offer it to me. Very clever, wasn't it?"

"Too clever! What did your wife do?"

"She couldn't think of anything to do except buy the record. She asked for a couple of days to get the money; he agreed, and she sold some of her securities and took the money down to him Monday morning."

"What shape was it in?"

"In hundred dollar bills."

"Where did she get them?"

"At her bank—the Guaranty."

"They probably made a note of the numbers, just in case," Tony remarked. "But she evidently didn't give them to McKibben—he still had the record."

"Oh, yes, she did, and after he had counted the money, he told her the price of the record had gone up to fifty thousand."

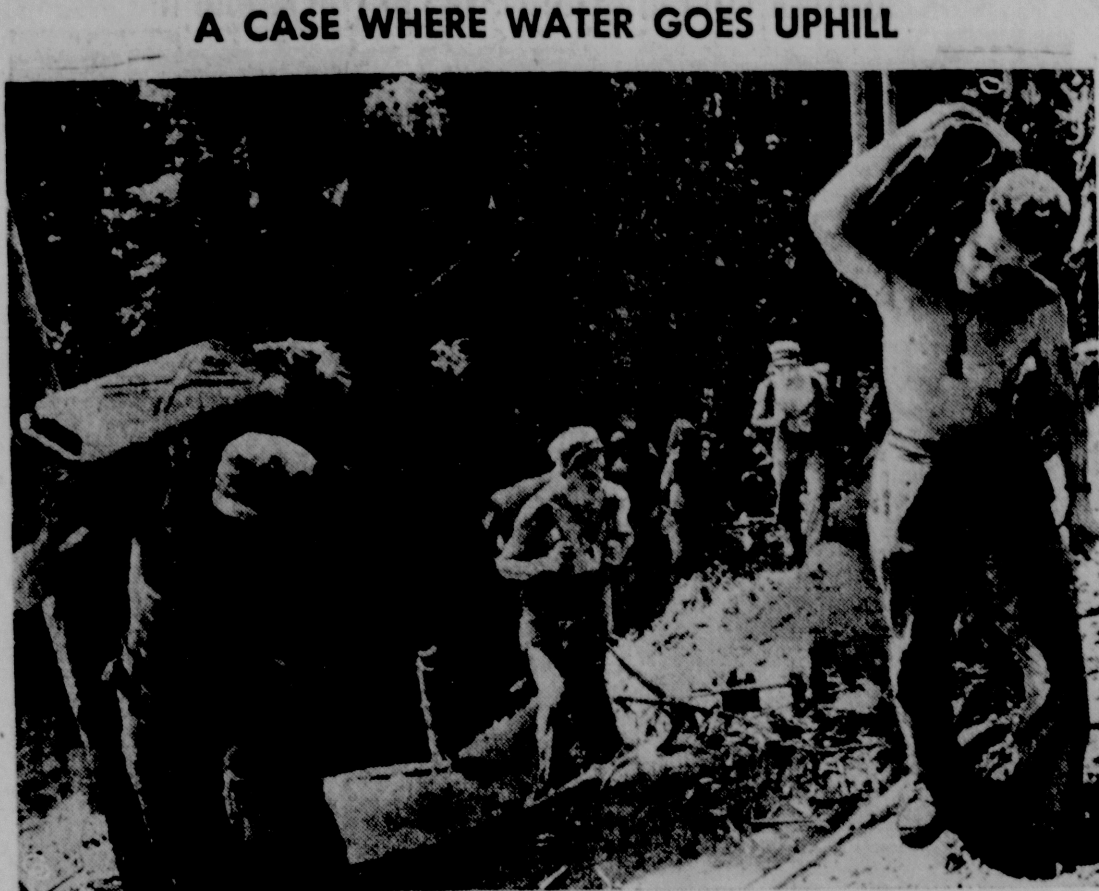

"It's a wonder she didn't kill him right there."

"I think she would have killed him," said Bradford grimly, "but she didn't. She managed to get home somehow, and there she found a note from Metcalf with the result of the blood analysis, and then she had a fainting spell. Her maid was frightened and called her doctor and then phoned her at the office, and by the time I got there she had come around, and the first thing she did was to tell me the whole story."

"So everything was serene again."

"Not right away," said Bradford, with a wry grimace. "I was pretty sore, so the first thing I did was to take a few drinks. Pretty soon I wasn't in shape to think about anything clearly, and so the more I mulled over what she had told me, the sadder I got, and finally I got into my riding crop—yes, the same one I brought down here—and went round to see Metcalf. I was going to beat the hide off him, for I was sure he and McKibben were working together. I still think so."

"I don't see how it could be any other way," Tony agreed, "but I can't make it click. For example, if they were working together, why didn't Metcalf hold back that blood

A CASE WHERE WATER GOES UPHILL

Curator Reveals Horse, Zebra Origin In North America

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—Dr. Paul O. McGrew, who can tell a zebra without its stripes, thinks the horse is back again, to stay.

McGrew is a young man who can make bones stand up and talk. He is assistant curator of paleontology at the Chicago natural history museum, and as a paleontologist, his main job is to learn what those bones have to say.

The bones in this case are fossils, and they have many startling stories, McGrew said.

Chief among them because it is new is the fact that zebras originated in North America. McGrew believes the striped version of a small horse that roamed the Western prairies not more than 4,000,000 years ago—and 4,000,000 years is no more to a paleontologist than a couple of weeks to a 1-A in the draft.

"The true horse originated in North America," McGrew said. "Later it spread to the Old World and then became extinct in America."

However, the family first had divided into several groups, one of which was destined to evolve into the true horse and another the ancestor of the zebras. The zebra spread into Asia, Europe and Africa, but became extinct in all but Africa.

The horse, too, became extinct in this country, McGrew says. But it bounced back when the Spaniards brought some along in the 16th century and turned them loose. And horses have been here ever since, in spite of the automobile.

McGrew tells all this from bones which have been found among Indian relics in the Southwest. He can tell other things from these bones besides history.

For instance, he says, he can tell a zebra from a horse by the animal's milk tooth, even without the stripes.

"If it's a lower milk tooth," he explained.

Noah Webster was the first American advocate of phonetic spelling, and once proposed that "medicine" should be spelled "medicin."

Controlled Auto
Manufacture Seen
After War Ceases

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, April 11—Heads of the nation's automobile industry, vigorous proponents of what they term the "free enterprise system," will not be greatly surprised if production of motor vehicles is resumed under rigid governmental control during the first post-war year.

After that they look for the huge, accumulated, unfulfilled demand to create the greatest competitive era in the industry's history.

The industry heads generally profess to have no present information regarding the initial post-war production program. The impression prevails in many quarters close to the manufacturers, however, that when civilian production again is authorized each company will be permitted to turn out a percentage of the number of vehicles it assembled during the last year of unrestricted production.

Kaiser May Build Cars

The immediate pre-war curtailment of passenger car production was effected on a percentage basis. Complete suspension of output came in February, 1942.

In the opinion of many industry experts, a resumption of civilian production on such a basis automatically would exclude any newcomer from the field—at least until such time as the companies that were in production prior to Pearl Harbor once again are in full operation.

One of the most persistent rumors in automotive circles during the last year has been that Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, planned to enter automobile manufacturing after the war.

Some of the car makers have expressed the belief post-war automobiles will sell for around 25 per cent more than their pre-war counterparts. The increase, according to one prominent producer, will be considerably greater if authorized production during the first post-war year aggregates less than 2,000,000 units.

Whatever may be the post-war production program, the industry heads, though engaged in a $1,000,000-a-hour war material output job, are overlooking no opportunity to emphasize the importance of preparing for the after-the-war tasks.

EVERYTHING'S DING HOW ON BURMA FRONT

BURMA—It's all Ding How and Okay between the American and Chinese allies fighting side by side in the Burma jungle.

An American is challenged by a Chinese sentry and hastily yells: "Ding How!" (Okay in Chinese).

The Chinese sentry unleashes his rifle and responds:

"Okay!" American for Ding How.

"Americans: Ding, ding how!"

A GAG
TO GAG HITLER

LONDON—Here is a bomb-bomb joke which travellers are making the rounds of shattered Berlin: A new postage stamp, illustrated with a head of Hitler, came out about the time the big Berlin raids started. One Berliner complained to another, "These new stamps are no good. They won't stick." "No good? Why, they stick all right," the other replied, "I'll show you." He found a stamp in his pocket, wet it and stuck it on a piece of paper. "See," he said, "it sticks just the same as any other stamp." "Oh!" said the first Berliner, "You spit on that side!"

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—When a man came in a Memphis paper company and asked for his firm's order, the shipping foreman asked the name of his company.

STRONG GOVERNMENT IS BRICKER'S PLEA

(By Associated Press)
SPOKANE, April 11.—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, campaigning in Pacific northwest in the interests of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, has declared opposition to any world authority or world government that might exercise any control over American military forces.

"We must keep our government free and strong. We must keep it in the hands of the people," he said during a press conference.

Bricker also assailed restriction of agricultural production, charging that "nobody can do the job (of controlling production) on overall basis."

He termed the agricultural adjustment agency "largely a political program" and said "whatever effort is put forth by the government in the field of agriculture, aside from research and market information, should be through state departments."

News and Views, Briefly
On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, Republican whip, says Congress should center government controls over pricing, rationing and food production in a single agency. He says such a move would "eliminate the present confusion and contradiction in policies."

Wherry plans to submit a proposal to the nine-member Republican steering committee that the group back such a consolidation either as separate legislation or as an amendment to the pending bill to continue the Office of Price Administration and the Price Control act.

And Sen. Wilson (R-Iowa) makes a similar plea to reduce the confusion.

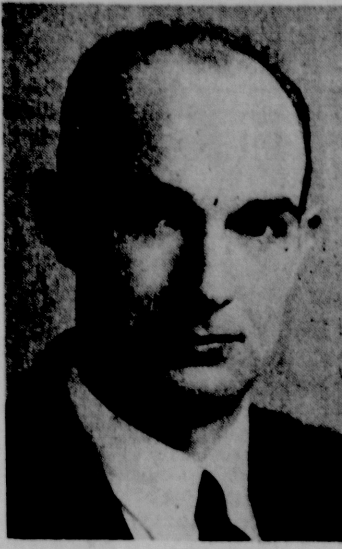

"The people ought to be given real information to prevent confusion but we certainly aren't getting it," he said, explaining that by not "getting it" he meant the information.

CONGRESS

When Congress reconvenes tomorrow for a session leading up to the national political conventions, legislation may give way largely to investigating. With committees of both houses charting explorations into nearly every phase of the war and post-war picture on the home-front and abroad, final disposition appeared likely for little more than a half dozen major measures.

Three principal bills will be sandwiched in between appropriation measures for government departments—those on price control, lend-lease extension and the "G. I. Bill of Rights" measure to provide education, unemployment and other benefits for veterans.

Spud Chandler And Ernie Bonham Are Rejoining Yankees

PAIR WHO WON 35 GAMES LAST YEAR REVIVE CHAMPIONS

Both Will Be Back With Bombers When Season Opens Next Week

BY TED MEIER

NEW YORK, April 11. — Spud Chandler and Ernie Bonham, who between them pitched 35 winning games for the World Champion New York Yankees last year, will be back with the Bronx bombers when the baseball season opens a week from today.

The news that Chandler, who won 20 and lost four, and Bonham, who won 15 and lost eight, will rejoin the team before the end of the week, was a tonic to Manager Joe McCarthy.

The 34-year-old Chandler and the 30-year-old Bonham both had been certified as acceptable for military service. However, neither has been called up and under the latest ruling of Selective Service, restricting the drafting of those older than 26, may be able to play for a short time.

Chandler, who turned in an earned run average of 1.64 as well as leading the Cardinals twice in the World Series, is expected to join the team tomorrow at either Atlantic City or Plainfield, N. J. Bonham is expected to report Thursday in New York.

Other major league news:

WASHINGTON SENATORS — Outfielder Stan Spence and First Baseman Joe Kuhel were heavy hitters as Senators banged out 15 hits in beating Bainbridge Naval station.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS — Only bright spot in St. Louis was arrival of Ted Wilks, Cardinal pitcher. Inclement weather curtailed workouts for both Cards and Browns.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES — Infielder Pete Coarsanti expected to start third season with team against Cleveland at Indianapolis. Coarsanti, who previously said he'd stick to war job at Escondido, Calif., reported yesterday.

DETROIT TIGERS — Team breaks camp today at Evansville, Ind. Six exhibition games drew only 5,674 fans, one-third of turnout for five game a year ago.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, April 11.—In the midst of that opening-day mob scene at the Jamaica race track, a couple of fans got into a fist fight in front of the press box. The cops hauled them apart with as little delay as possible. Whereupon another seeker after outdoor recreation, a wad of greenbacks in his hand, jumped up on his seat and offered: "Two to one they don't throw 'em out of the park. They've still got their dough."

A ROOKIE A DAY

Tony Ordenana, Pirates — Pittsburgh's version of "good field, no hit." At Portsmouth, Va., last year Prexy Frank Lawrence called the Cuban shaver the best infielder his club had had since Pie Traynor in 1920. Confident Tony agrees, though he hit only 249 in the Piedmont league. But you should have heard what old Honus Wagner had to say when Tony missed a grounder in an exhibition and then staged a gaudy display of peevishness. The printable part was: "Who do you think was going to pick up that ball for you? The groundskeeper?"

SHORTS AND SHEELS

Lou Nova, who probably isn't any worse than most of the active heavyweights, has been booked for bouts in Des Moines, Minneapolis, Tulsa and Kansas City following his Omaha "opener" next week. End O'Neal Adams and Back Hubert Barker of the football game, are building bombers in a Tulsa, Okla., plant. Probably they'll name one "Luckman." Prexy Bill Streit of the Southern A. A. U. wants all service men to know that the National senior weight lifting championships and the "Mr. America" contest will be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., May 27. Heck, any guy in a G. I. uniform could qualify for that title.

For the fourth consecutive season, Pennings won the American League championship as the regular schedule came to a close on the Masonic alleys last night.

While four postponed matches remain to be played, the results will make no changes in the league standings. Zimmermann, in second place, have two postponed matches, but if they win all eight points involved they still will be ten behind the league leaders.

Demings could get back into fourth place, ahead of Firestones, by winning six of their remaining eight points, but the pumpmackers have had difficulty in getting a team out lately and they are likely to forfeit the postponed matches.

Richardson, finished in third place, five points behind Zimmermann.

Three Tribesmen Nurse Practice Injuries Today

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 11.—Manager Lou Boudreau remarked recently his Cleveland Indians had been fortunate in escaping injury this spring training season.

The Tribe pilot probably wishes he hadn't commented about it, for today Trainer Lefty Weisman had three athletes under his care.

Outfielder Oris Hockett damaged his shoulder several days ago and two teammates have joined him on the inactive list. First Baseman Mickey Rocco injured his foot in a volley ball game at Lafayette Monday and was unable to play yesterday as the Indians dropped a 6 to 0 exhibition to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pitcher Joe Heving was hit on the leg by a line drive before the game and will have to rest a few days.

Chewing Gum Wad Saves B-26 From Crash Landing

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—A pack of chewing gum saved the crew of a medium bomber from a dangerous belly landing at their North African base, Tech. Sgt. Wayne E. Armstrong, 20, of Moham, Ill., revealed on his return to this Air Force redistribution station.

After flak had punctured the hydraulic line controlling the lowering of the landing gear, Sgt. Armstrong said, "I collected chewing gum from the crew and stuck it on a piece of gauze. I stuck the pad on the hole and tightened a tourniquet over it."

The patch eventually broke loose, but not until the B-26 had landed safely, and on her wheels.

Recreation To Practice For Little City Tourney

In preparation for the Little City basketball tournament, the following Recreation players are asked to report for practice at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Frank Fowler, John Trombitas, Gordy Scullion, Lee Shaffer, Ed Jeffries, Al Catlos, Ben Kupka, Clay Raynes, Gib. Everhart and Charles Malloy.

Auction Spacious Club

TULSA, Okla., April 11.—The $450,000 Oakhurst Country club, its membership reduced from 500 to less than 100 since the war started, will be sold Wednesday at a sheriff's auction at the Sapulpa courthouse.

In addition to its 18-hole grass greens course, Oakhurst has a $105,000 club building, a large swimming pool and spacious picnic grounds for members. It covers 312 acres.

MIDWEST SLUGGERS SEEK A. A. U. TITLES

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON, April 11.—The midwest enjoyed a comfortable edge today as the 32 survivors of the opening day rounds of amateur millington moved on toward the climactic semi-final and title battles of the National A. A. U. boxing championships at Boston garden.

Paced by the ever-dominant Cleveland team, which placed six of its seven contestants in the semi-final brackets, the midwest in all had 15 representatives while the east represented the nearest threat to its supremacy with a total of 12 survivors of the first day of the strenuous grind.

Clevelands usually casualty, Frank Cordy, of Niles, was eliminated in that class in the quarter-finals.

Each of the surviving Cleveland representatives is dangerous and gave evidence once again that the Ohio city team would cop the team prize. Two of them gained the semi-final bracket in the 135-pound division when Joe D'Amato, of Warren, originally entered as a feather, turned up overweight and moved up to the lightweight class to qualify along with rugged Frank Muche.

In the flyweight class Jack Dardard, of Kansas City, looks like the likely finalist against Cleveland's Rudy Molinaro while Joey Salome, of Warren, probably will carry his team's hope in the title bout against Virgil Franklin, an Indian from the Riverside school in Anadarko, Okla.

Ray Standifer, of Cleveland, and Vance Bassler, of the U. S. Navy, now at Harvard university, were the light-heavyweight stickouts, while Sgt. Eddie Simms, USA, another Cleveland, seemed the best heavyweight, despite the tremendous advance reports concerning Jack Thorne, Jr., of Newark, N. J.

HUTCHINSON, Kas.—Miss Ruth Sanders of Hutchinson collects old spectacles as a hobby and has 50 pairs. Her prize is more than 100 years old and has steel frames with adjustable temple bars.

OLDER MEN

Does all this mean some boards will forget about quotas altogether—so far as the 18-26 group is concerned—and just make a clean-up of all the men they have in that group even when this means going beyond the usual quota for that board?

Selective service says yes, but points out that comparatively few boards will be able to exceed their usual quotas in a draft of the 18-26 group because so few have that many young men left.

How long will induction over 26-38 men be postponed generally?

No accurate estimate is possible. For some, there may be no delay. For others, where boards have many in the 18-26 group, the delay may be up to 90 days.

Drop Wedding Plans

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Richard "Red" Skelton, who has gagged his way through a number of who-dunnits on the screen, was the co-star today of a mystery of his own—why did he and blond model Muriel Morris call off their proposed marriage?

The couple, both 30, took out a license to wed last Thursday, telling reporters they had decided on marriage an hour before. Skelton said they would wed "in a couple of days."

Yesterday Miss Morris said the wedding was off.

New Process Keeps Dried Fruit Flavors

(By United Press)

WENATCHEE, Wash.—A former college professor has developed a new process for converting fruit into candy through a dehydration process.

The process was worked out by Dr. Frank O. Kreager, former professor at Washington State college and the University of Louisiana. Unlike most dried fruits, those produced by the new method retain the flavor of fresh fruit. This is accomplished, Dr. Kreager explained, by reversing the usual process of drying.

The fruit is subject to a high temperature early in the dehydration process, immediately after the fresh fruit has been immersed in a sugar-glucose solution. The temperature is gradually decreased as the fruit dries.

Dr. Kreager developed the process primarily to absorb thousands of tons of fruit which is lost each year because of lack of processing facilities. He pointed out that the fruit can be processed after it reaches full ripeness on the tree. Formerly, tree-ripened fruit was regarded as largely lost because it was too soft for handling.

The process also employs another agricultural waste product. The sugar-glucose sweetening and preserving agent is made from cull potatoes which are otherwise unmarketable.

Stork-Minded

HOLLYWOOD'S busy stork has still another date chalked on his calendar, a visit late this year to screen comedian Martha Raye and her husband, Nick Condos. She is seen with some of the southerners she brought back from her entertainment tour of Army posts in North Africa. (International)

FORMER MINISTER NOW PARATROOPER

(By United Press)

GOOSE CREEK, Tex.—Parachute jumping is a "profound religious experience," for Technician Robert J. Shaver, a onetime Methodist minister.

Shaver, who at 6 feet, 3 1/4 inches is the tallest paratrooper in the Army, found "hitting the silk" terrifying.

But he conquered his fear by quoting Scriptures to himself as he made ready to leap. Once he withdrew from the paratroop training school after completing the "A" and "B" courses at Fort Benning, Ga.

After months of prayer and meditation, Shaver, who formerly held a pastorate here and also was a Goose Creek high school teacher, decided to go back into training.

Among the passages of Scripture in which he found strength and consolation, he said, were: Psalms 139:8—"If I ascend into Heaven Thou art there"; Philippians 4:13—"I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me"; and Romans 5:1—"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Now a full-fledged paratrooper, Shaver still finds that "parachute jumping is the most profound religious experience of my life."
